Little giants: leather elephants for the writing desk

With some products, it's easy to see the great deal of care and attention to detail that has gone into their design and manufacture. This trio definitely belongs in that category. The elephants are made using precise craftsmanship in a small, Italian factory. Produced from natural leather, they are available in three sizes and have a number of flexible drawers lined with felt worked from high-quality Italian sheep's wool. These neat little aids to organisation will hold all those items you need at your desk and don't want to lose – pens, paper notes, calling cards or tickets for your next theatre trip. All three variants come with a case of 12 Polychromos artists' colour pencils – a great idea for adding a touch of class to your writing desk or for putting in your creative corner – or if you simply want to spread some happiness! What's more, over time the leather will develop a charming patina, making the little elephants even more enchanting and personal.
